EXPONA COMMERCIAL

EXPONA COMMERCIAL – Efficient for good reason.

EXPONA COMMERCIAL flooring is of the highest quality. Perfect for impressive interior design concepts and easy to install. Our design floors faithfully reproduce natural models – while opening up design possibilities that go beyond the original.

New is the ultra-matt surface, which makes authentic designs look even more natural and is also particularly easy to care for. Thanks to the new wall approval, EXPONA COMMERCIAL now offers even more creative freedom – for consistent material concepts on floors and walls. Generous, modern formats ensure a contemporary look and set rooms impressively in scene.

Our claim is sustainable robustness. Especially for areas subject to heavy wear. EXPONA COMMERCIAL floor coverings are easy to clean as they are resistant to moisture and dirt. And they have a very pleasant, quiet sound when walked on. Our certified floorings are biobased, which means that they contain only phthalate-free and bio-based plasticisers.

Aufbau EXPONA COMMERCIAL

EXPONA COMMERCIAL tiles and planks consist of several layers that are thermally pressed so that they are completely laminated. The surface is given a PUR treatment before it leaves the factory.

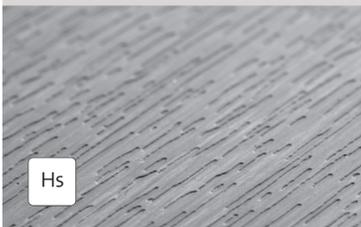

Nature is our role model.

A design floor is more than just a functional surface – it shapes rooms and sets stylistic accents. But how do you create a decor that looks modern while remaining natural and timeless?

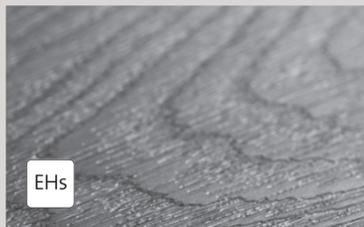

The answer lies in the interplay of trend awareness, design expertise and technical precision. And the rule is: nature is always the model.

Our designers analyse international trends, talk to architects and draw inspiration from art, fashion and nature. The aim is not only to reflect the spirit of the times, but to be ahead of it. Today, the focus is on calm woods, soft stone decors and matt surfaces – minimalist, harmonious, authentic.

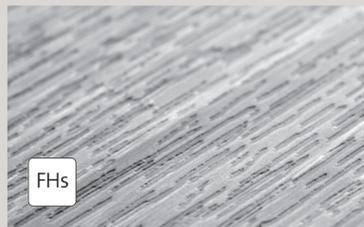

Whether based on a real model or developed digitally, every EXPONA decor follows the principle of authentic design. Colours, textures and details are carefully composed to ensure the design is effective. Good decor design takes a holistic approach: in terms of appearance, feel, format and suitability for everyday use.

Embossing meets design. The art of perfect composition.

An authentic design floor is created from the harmonious combination of decor, bevelling, embossing and surface – each element contributes to making the floor appear lively and natural.

Embossing gives the surface texture: it makes wood grains tangible, imitates stony edges or gentle grooves and thus creates a noticeable depth. But it's not just about feel, it's about the interplay of all the details.

Bevel, embossing and surface are carefully matched to the decor so that, for example, a knot hole looks and feels real. Designers and technicians work closely together to create a design that is visually appealing and also inspires when touched.

Realistic, embossed and in-register embossed surfaces

In-register embossed surfaces

With embossed-in-register technology, the embossing follows the exact grain of the décor. This creates an appearance that is almost indistinguishable from real wood or slate.

Matt, but not milky: the evolution of the surface

One of the biggest challenges in recent years has been the desire for extremely matt surfaces. They look elegant and modern, reduce light reflections and enhance the natural feel. However, if a surface is too matt, it can appear dull or even milky – especially with dark or deeply structured decors. The solution lies in new surface coatings and technical innovations such as the new ultra-matt surface from EXPONA, which enables a more matt look without losing transparency or depth. Each surface is individually matched to the decor – for a harmonious overall appearance.

Formats

Formats as part of the design.

A decor only unfolds its full effect in the right format. That is why each design is specifically tailored to the respective format – be it long planks or square tiles.

A vividly structured oak decor needs longer planks to show off its natural beauty and dynamism. Fine concrete, on the other hand, is particularly effective on large-format tiles, as the calm structures can unfold generously.

Our designers readjust each decor for the respective format size – in terms of perspective, colour and structure – to ensure that every floor covering looks perfect and creates a harmonious design for rooms.

More than just flooring. Now also for walls.

EXPONA COMMERCIAL brings design freedom to walls and floors – for unique room concepts.

Design knows no bounds: EXPONA COMMERCIAL can not only be laid in the classic way on the floor, but also unfolds its full potential on the wall. Whether as an accent wall, a continuous design or creative surface design – EXPONA COMMERCIAL now also sets impressive accents on the wall.
